Dag Hammarskjold Returns for Talks With His Advisers

Conference With Egypt's Fawzi Brings No Announcement of Any Results; War Trials Demanded

CAIRO, Nov. 17 (AP)—Dag Hammarskjold is heading back to New York tomorrow after a round of talks with Egyptian officials on the role of the United Nations police force in the Middle East. The talks produced no announcement of tangible results.

Workers Defy Their Leaders In Hungary

Nationals Ignore Government Pleas, Continue on Strike

BUDAPEST, Nov. 17 (AP)—Nearly 40,000 workers of the huge Csepel iron and steel works defied their leaders today, ignored government appeals to return to their jobs, and continued their strike.

The plant on an island in the Danube was crowded with workmen. They stood around in groups.

The mood of the workers was desperate, bitter and firm.

"We know our decisions mean misery for us," one said, "but we can't work under the shadow of Russian bayonets."

"We are sticking to our demands 99 per cent and the rest (1 per cent) are working for the AVH (secret police)."

Reports in Vienna said the Hungarian government had imposed harsh food and electricity controls to force an end to a paralyzing general strike.

Budapest broadcasts also said some labor leaders had urged a return to work.

Members of the plant's Workers' Council—leaders—were more cautious in their comments.

They said, however, they were embarrassed by Russian deportations of Hungarians.

A council member said the council is investigating all reports of deportations. He added the Russian commander at Csepel has denied they were taking place.

There have been widespread reports the Russians are shipping youth leaders of the uprising to the Soviet Union in sealed railway cars.

Both workers and leaders agreed in talks with correspondents that former Premier Imre Nagy was the only man they would trust to "insure the achievement of our revolution."

Jury Acquits Woman Aviator of Murder

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—A jury Friday night acquitted Mrs. Helen McBride, 49, the woman aviator, of killing a "friend of the family" at her home Feb. 29.

The sister-in-law of Mary Margaret McBride, the columnist, sobbed when the verdict was read in Circuit Court. She said she shot Charles Richard Green, 33, in self defense when they argued about money.

Green, an unmarried airline clerk, had lived in the McBride home at Apopka from 1947 to 1955. She described him as "almost a member of the family" which included her husband, Dr. T. E. McBride, 60, and the McBrides' four children.

Closes Books On Typhoid Fever Cases

Public Health Head Says Some Answers Still Not Obtained

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 17 (AP)—Missouri's Division of Public Health closed its books today on an epidemic of typhoid fever that broke out among visitors to a church camp meeting at Monark Springs, Mo., last summer.

Dr. E. A. Belden, director of the division's communicable diseases bureau, concluded the investigation and said that even at the windup there were a couple of questions still unanswered.

These facts were known, the report said: At least 24 cases of typhoid fever were diagnosed among the 515 persons who attended the camp from July 20 through July 29. Seven cases were found among the 215 Missourians at the camp and at least 17 from among persons from other states.

Only one, a Missourian, definitely died of typhoid fever. Two persons from other states were reported to have died but neither death was definitely attributed to typhoid.

Most of the typhoid cases were diagnosed as of the comparatively rare "phage" type.

"The probable source of the typhoid cases was a typhoid carrier known to have been at the camp but the precise method of transmission is unknown," the final report said.

(Dr. Belden reported earlier that the known carrier, a Missouri woman, has promised the Health Division to stay away from large public gatherings and to refrain from handling food for others than her immediate family.)

Seven campers, in addition to the 27 whose sickness was pinned on typhoid, also were ill from something "suggestive of typhoid." But tests made on those persons did not substantiate a diagnosis of typhoid.

"The evidence," the report said, "indicates that contamination from a new sewage absorption bed aided by heavy rains, entered the well" used for drinking water during the first half of the meeting. "It seems probable that contaminated water was responsible for the . . . typhoid fever associated with this meeting," the report said.

For that reason, the division's sanitary engineers recommended that the camp operators find a new source of drinking water, possibly by drilling a new well farther from the sewage disposal system. Tests shortly after the meeting ended showed that dye injected into the sewage system showed up in the well water within 19 hours.

Democrats at Advantage— Campaign Strategists Plan 1958 Senate Control Battle

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17 (AP)—With the 1956 election less than two weeks old, campaign strategists of both parties already are laying plans for the 1958 battle for control of the Senate.

The Democrats particularly are looking ahead to that election since only 11 of their senators must face the voters then while 21 GOP seats will be at stake.

Democratic planners said today that they consider each of their 11 seats relatively safe, while they believe they have a chance to win 8 to 10 of the Republican posts.

Republicans conceded that they expect a tough fight in 1958. But they recalled that the last time this bloc of seats was up, in 1952, their party won enough races to take Senate control. This was in the first Eisenhower triumph.

In this year's voting, the Democrats maintained their precarious numerical Senate margin of 49-47, a margin so thin that it could be overturned by one death.

Democrats here are looking forward to help from popular governors of their party in the 1958 election, although they say they do not have any firm word about intentions of any of these men to run for the Senate.

However, they expect Gov. Ernest McFarland of Arizona, former Senate Democratic leader, to try to take back the seat he lost to Sen. Goldwater (R-Ariz.) in the first Eisenhower landslide. McFarland won a second term as governor this year.

In Michigan, Gov. G. Mennen Williams, winner of an unprecedented fifth term, has indicated he probably will not seek a sixth. If he does not, Democratic leaders think he would be a natural to run against Sen. Potter (R-Mich) two years hence.

Sen. Payne (R-Me) already has announced he is retiring in 1958. Democrats are hoping Gov. Edmund S. Muskie will make a try for this seat.

In Pennsylvania, where the Democrats won a Senate seat this year, they believe Gov. George M. Leader would have a good chance to capture the second one in 1958. He cannot succeed himself as governor. Sen. Edward Martin (R-Pa) whose term ends in two years, has said he will not run again.

Democrats also expect to make big efforts to unseat Sens. Malone (R-Nev), Revercomb (R-W.Va), Beall (R-Md), and Purtell (R-Conn) in the 1958 voting.

They would like to be able to defeat Sens. McCarty (R-Wis) and Jenner (R-Ind) but concede that they face uphill battles in these states.

Republicans say one of their best chances to pick off a Democratic seat will be in New Mexico, where Sen. Chavez (D-NM) will be up. He barely won in 1952.

GOP strategists also expect to make hard fights for seats held by these senators, although Democrats insist that in each case their man should be a strong favorite: Sens. Jackson (D-Wash), Kennedy (D-Mass), Mansfield (D-Mont) and Pastore (D-RI).

NATO Envoys Leave After Harsh Attack

MOSCOW, Nov. 17 (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev railed against "imperialists and their puppets" so harshly tonight that NATO ambassadors and the Israeli charge d'affaires walked out of a Kremlin reception honoring Wladyslaw Gomulka.

The retort Soviet Communist boss said world peace had been threatened by the "bandit-like attacks of Britain, France and their puppet Israel."

Western diplomats shifted angrily as he talked about the "fascist gangs" which attempted to destroy socialism in Hungary. There was a quick conference among the envoys, who waited until Gomulka had replied to Khrushchev's speech.

Then there was a concerted move for the exits with French, British and Israeli envoys leading the way. They were followed by the Italian, Dutch, United States, Canadian, Danish, Icelandic, Norwegian, Belgian, Turkish and Greek diplomats.

Khrushchev's boast that "the time has passed when imperialist attempts to enslave weaker nations go unpunished" found no echo in Gomulka's speech. The Polish Communist leader referred neither to the Egyptian problem nor to battered Hungary in his remarks.

Polish-Soviet talks have been conducted in an atmosphere and complete understanding, said Gomulka, who served four years in a Polish jail for Titoism.

"The results will be favorable and mutually advantageous," Gomulka said.

Reliable sources said a Soviet-Polish joint communique on the negotiations here will be signed tomorrow, with the Gomulka delegation leaving for Warsaw a few hours later.

Soviet Carries Out Nuclear Weapon Test

BULLETIN LONDON (AP)—The Soviet Union carried out a nuclear weapon test today at a great altitude, Moscow radio announced.

"This test was successful," the announcement said.

There was no immediate description of the weapon tested—whether it was of hydrogen or atom type.

But, the Soviet announcement, said "The explosion was carried out at a great altitude."

Would Destroy Stockpiles Of Nuclear Arms, End Tests

BY HAROLD K. MILKS

MOSCOW, Nov. 17 (AP)—The Soviet Union offered today to discuss President Eisenhower's "open skies" inspection plan at a new summit conference on disarmament. The proposed meeting of the Big Four and India would consider Soviet proposals including destruction of all H-bomb and A-bomb stockpiles and an end to nuclear bomb tests.

The Russians said Eisenhower's plan could be considered "for all NATO and Warsaw Pact countries."

The offer was accompanied by a declaration that the Soviet Union was now strong enough to take over "the whole of Western Europe without the use of rocket or nuclear weapons."

Premier Bulganin sent messages to President Eisenhower and the prime ministers of Britain, France, India and Communist China outlining the disarmament proposals.

He said the choice was between East-West agreement "and a new world war more terrible than any we have ever known."

In agreeing to examine Eisenhower's "open skies" plan, Bulganin said aerial inspection should be limited to an area 800 kilometers (about 500 miles) on either side of the border between NATO and Warsaw Pact countries, "subject to the approval of the individual nations."

Eisenhower proposed at the summit conference in Geneva in July 1955 that the Soviet Union and the United States exchange military blueprints of military installations and permit planes of both countries to make aerial inspections.

The Russians never have accepted the plan.

On the nuclear weapons the Soviet Union made this proposal: "To ban H and A-bombs, their production and use, and to destroy all stocks, with an immediate ban on tests."

The Soviet Union has been plumping for a long time for an end to nuclear tests, and international agreement to ban nuclear weapons.

The West has insisted that strict international control measures must be imposed as a first consideration.

Today's Bulganin message said the Russians wanted to "establish strict international control to insure that these (disarmament) proposals are carried out."

Bulganin's message contained blasts at the British, French and

Chancellor Adenauer Suggests West Help Egypt Build Dam

BOON, Germany, Nov. 17 (AP)—Chancellor Otto Adenauer suggested today the West should help Egypt build the Aswan Dam as a means of settling the Suez conflict.

The 80-year-old chancellor, speaking to a convention of Christian laymen and editors, said the best way to bring peace to the Middle East was to support reconstruction of the crippled Egyptian economy.

Israelis for the invasion of Egypt, and said this has resulted in a "serious weakening, not only of the political but also of the military strategic positions" of Britain and France in Europe, and of the entire North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Soviet Union Disarmament Plan's Items

By The Associated Press

These were the Soviet disarmament proposals—most of them offered before in one way or another—to be discussed at a summit conference "in view of the failure of the U.N. Disarmament Commission."

1. "The armed forces of the U.S.S.R., the United States, and China should be reduced within two years to 1½ million men each while the forces of Britain and France should be cut to 650,000 each and those of other nations to 100,000 to 150,000. As a first step the United States, China and the Soviet Union should cut their forces to 2½ million and Britain and France to 750,000."

2. A complete ban on atomic and hydrogen weapons of war. Discontinuance of their production, complete destruction of stock piles, and an immediate halt of all tests of nuclear weapons.

3. A reduction by one-third in 1957 of the armed forces of the United States, Britain and France in Germany.

4. A considerable reduction in 1957 of the forces of the United States, France and Britain in the NATO countries and of Soviet Union forces in the Warsaw treaty countries.

5. Liquidation within two years of all foreign army, navy, and air force bases in other countries.

6. A corresponding reduction in armaments expenditures.

Houstonia Youth Is Hurt Saturday In Gun Accident

Richard Cramer, 13, of Houstonia son of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Cramer, was painfully wounded about 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon when accidentally shot while helping his father fix his rifle. His condition is not serious.

The boy and his father had gone to the home of his grandfather, L. F. Cramer, near Houstonia to hunt. While hunting the gun became jammed and wouldn't automatically eject the shells.

The boy was holding the gun while his father was working with him, apparently having unloaded the shells. However, one shell evidently lodged in the chamber and was exploded accidentally.

Richard said, "I was holding the gun and I guess I must have got my hand over the muzzle."

The bullet passed through the right hand, shattering the bone in the hand, ranged out of the back of his hand and struck him in the upper part of the right arm, lodging in the flesh part of the arm to the back.

Dr. P. A. Roberts, Sweet Springs, was called and brought the boy to the Bothwell Hospital, treating him here. X-rays were taken and a report given by Dr. Robert Stewart, radiologist.

Herman Eugene Talmadge--
Georgia's Newest Senator
Is Different From Father

ATLANTA, Nov. 17 (AP)—Deep in the heart of Georgia's "wool hat" country, folks like to think that young "Hummon" Talmadge is the spitting image of "Old Gene," right down to the jawful of tobacco and the big brass spittoon at his feet.

And Herman Eugene Talmadge, Georgia's newest U. S. senator and the only son of her late long-time governor, likes to oblige the comparison by affecting the red galuses, bushy forelock and long black cigars that have become a Talmadge trade-mark in Southern politics.

But Georgians have come to realize (and accept) that while the mold may be the same — rough hewn, trigger tongued, independent — the newer model Talmadge is shinier, more streamlined and geared for power and action.

Where "Old Gene" was irascible, moody, unbending and carried a grudge to his dying day, young Herman is calm, deliberate, pliable and apt to forget a grudge if it can mean more votes in a doubtful district.

And where the father boasted of "never carrying a county where the streetcars ran," the son is proud of his support in the big cities and his new-found influence with the younger generation of Georgia voters.

The Talmadge firm is still doing business at the same old stand of white supremacy, but the selling methods have changed since

The Tanglewood 4-H Club held a Hallowe'en party at its meeting recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Reine. The masquerade party was for the 4-H members, their parents and other members of the community and prizes were given for the most outstanding costumes.

There were games and weird stories, and the home was decorated in keeping with the season. Refreshments were served.

Martha Hammond, vice-president, conducted the business meeting and the following officers were elected for the coming year: president, Delta Reine; vice-president, Sandra Hammond; secretary, Jon Gay Townsend; reporter, Robert Mewes; parliamentarian, Larry Hieronymus; song leader, John Greer; game leaders, Martha and Louise Bronson, and pianist, Kay Jacobs.

Projects will be decided on at the next meeting.

the father passed on and the son inherited the business.

Like his father, young Gene, twice elected governor of Georgia, states unequivocally that in Georgia Negroes and whites will never attend school together in his lifetime, but his approach is constitutional rather than contemptuous. He regards the U.S. Supreme Court segregation decision of 1954 as an infringement on the sovereign right of Georgia to run her own school system.

A square-jawed, hard worker, young Talmadge already has achieved two goals that eluded his father. He has won a seat in the U.S. Senate and he has replaced Sen. Walter George, "Old Gene" tried both and lost by an overwhelming margin.

George, 78, dropped out of the race before Talmadge could avenge his father's defeat, giving the heavily favored challenger clear sailing to Capitol Hill.

Talmadge quickly showed, in interviews after his election, that he had no intention of following the precepts of his internationalist-minded predecessor in the field of foreign affairs. George, long a leader in shaping the nation's foreign policy, was a staunch Senate advocate of increased foreign aid, the Marshall Plan and other forms of mutual assistance among nations.

Born Aug. 9, 1913, Talmadge was educated in Georgia public schools and attended the University of Georgia, where he received his law degree in 1936. The next year he married Kathryn Williams, a professional model he met while both were students at the university. That marriage ended in divorce three years later.

In 1941 Talmadge went into the Navy as an ensign. After World War II service in the South Pacific he was discharged in 1945 as a lieutenant commander. On a three-day pass in 1941 he married another Georgia coed, Leila Elizabeth (Betty) Shingler.

Toastmasters Hear Four Top Speakers

The Sedalia Toastmaster's Club heard four outstanding seven minute speeches by fellow members at their last meeting.

J. W. Vanderent was voted the best speaker of the evening by his clever topic of "Confusion or Confugility". His talk stressed the importance of the use of words and showed that through their proper use, men can often conquer obstacles to be successful.

Norb Tompkin had some fine comments to make about the new 1957 automobiles in a 7 minute speech entitled the "Big Three". Tom Boicourt kept the entire club interested when he packed 7 minutes of constructive ideas about the city of Sedalia in a talk entitled "Looking Into the Future."

Tom Sawyer, a veteran toastmaster and fine extemporaneous speaker kept the club most attentive by his remarks which were centered about the topic "You Are At Fault." Wayne Hicks gave all members some challenging subjects to discuss in the two minute extemporaneous talks given by every member. Mr. Dick Cummings lined up several competent evaluators who gave constructive suggestions on how all the speeches given could be improved.

SPECIAL EDUCATION CLASS—These are six of the 14 children of the special education class taught by Mrs. George West, center, along with Mrs. D. A. Lyne, therapist, extreme left, back row, and the two police officers who escort the children to and from the library. This class has a new home in the annex to the Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed Church, Fourth and Vermont, an attractive modern classroom. One child, who has glandular fever, has his lessons in Mrs. West's home, as do three other children. One boy is in training at the State Fair Floral Co. greenhouse, one is doing occupational therapy making TV lamps and shelves which he sells and now has orders for 18 shelves, and one boy has part-time work at the Fox Theatre. Once a week the public library staff shows the children three films on social studies and science. (Lehmer Photo)

The Pettis County Fire department answered two alarms Friday afternoon. The first was to LaMonte at 2 p.m. where a grass fire was reported in progress. Later it was discovered that a smokehouse was afire and the LaMonte fire department had the blaze under control.

The large, two-story, frame house of Mrs. James Hume, son and daughter, Elmer and Miss Marian, Blackwater, was destroyed by fire about nine o'clock Monday evening. It was later sold to John Fray and was owned by three generations of the Fray family, John Fray, his son, Ben F. Fray and his son, Harris Fray.

For 15 years or more, the late R. Newton McDowell owned the 400 acre farm which was sold to the Humes last spring. The farm lies across Blackwater River from Blackwater.

Mrs. Hume was alone at the time of the fire, which she first noticed when she went out of the house to do some chores. She saw a fire in the attic at the rear of the house. As there was no telephone in the house she drove a pickup to a neighbors where the alarm was given. Many people gathered but too late to save anything. All contents were burned. There was insurance on the dwelling but none on contents.

Congestion In Precincts...

Following annexation of new territory to Sedalia, City Council ordered realignment of wards and precincts, with the help of representatives of both political parties, so that voting would be more evenly distributed.

Insofar as wards are concerned the balance effected was close on the basis of registration, the four ward totals being approximately 2,706, 2,956, 2,968 and 2,711, or a total of 11,341. Comparable, too, was the November 6 voting in the four wards, the unofficial figures showing 2,316, 2,563, 2,670 and 2,422, or a total of 9,971.

Considering past performance, Sedalians really got out and voted this year.

Actual voting in the precincts, however, showed an imbalance as the following figures reveal: First Ward precincts 415, 886, 606, and 409. Second Ward precincts: 427, 461, 1,009, 999. Third Ward precincts: 475, 776, 715 and 704. Fourth Ward precincts: 526, 632, 623 and 641.

There is no comparable condition of overcrowding out in the precincts of Pettis County where the heaviest vote was 428 in Smithton One and 345 in Green Ridge One.

The purpose of ward and precinct alignment is to make it unnecessary for people to stand in long lines in order to vote, and to ease the task of election boards. In general elections and in city elections where major issues are involved it is common to see people waiting as long as 40 minutes which was the case at Mark Twain in particular, where the vote was 886, at the Court House where 1,009 voted, and at Washington School where 999 voted.

This condition needs correcting. Four wards may be all right for Sedalia, but the precincts therein should be adjusted upward.

Maximum sized voting precincts should be arranged for 300 or 400 voters. This will take the load off of election judges and clerks and not require them to work far into the early morning hours to get their counting job done.

Not only should election boards be relieved of this improper burden for which they are underpaid, but the voters themselves should have better service and not be required to spend 40 minutes or more in line.

Furthermore, at the last election it was evident there was a shortage of election booths. Because of this in many instances voters sat in chairs or used the walls as a backboard to mark their ballots—all out in the open. The semblance of a secret ballot was thereby nullified.

There are strict regulations about the conduct of an election, and if these are winked at because of the lack of equipment or pressure on election boards, the whole theory of the secret ballot is destroyed. These imperfections should not be tolerated lest dishonesty be encouraged.

Of course, the outpouring of voters in Sedalia was an uncommon occurrence, but that does not mean they should be discouraged from repeating this performance by such impediments as those of November 6.

Many other cities had the same experience. One in point is Columbia which has already started a movement to correct the condition.

Sedalia, also, should give immediate attention to realignment in view of the fact that we may again expect large turnouts of voters which makes it imperative to reduce the size of the areas. Otherwise voters will be deterred from bucking the line at crowded precincts.

Washington Merry-Go-Round—

Saund's Broadcast Mysteriously Cut

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Judge D. S. Saund campaigned for Congress all fall by saying: "If elected I will go to India."

He was paraphrasing Eisenhower's famous 1952 pledge that if elected he would go to Korea. But Judge Saund wasn't joking. In impassioned voice he told how Indians misunderstood the United States, had the wrong impression about prejudice. He said that he had found no prejudice against color in California, had been elected a local judge, would tell the story of no race prejudice if he was elected to Congress.

On Nov. 6, Judge Saund was elected. Immediately he got in touch with the Voice of America in Washington, offered to broadcast to India and other parts of the world to tell the story of how, for the first time in history, a native-born Indian, now a naturalized American, had been elected to Congress.

The Voice of America promptly accepted his offer, arranged for him to come to Washington and broadcast Nov. 15.

Judge Saund had purchased his airplane ticket and was to leave Los Angeles Nov. 14. Suddenly he got word from the Voice of America that the broadcast was cancelled.

What he did not know was that the Voice of America had received a memorandum from the White House. It was a direct order that Congressman-elect Saund was not to broadcast to India or any other place. No reason was given. It was hinted unofficially, however, that there were alleged irregularities in his election campaign.

A checkup of Judge Saund's election revealed that he had spent between eight and ten thousand dollars, which is modest. There was no indication of irregularity. His opponent, Mrs. Jacqueline Cochran Odum, former head of WASPS, founder of a beauty cream company, and wife of financier Floyd Odum, had spent five or six times as much.

In Washington, the representative of Floyd Odum is George Allen, one of the closest of Ike Eisenhower's personal friends. Allen is a director of the Atlas Corporation, parent company of the far-flung Odum financial empire. He was also the original partner in the Eisenhower Gettysburg farm, and has been a partner with the President in a Howard Johnson restaurant in Washington, D.C. He plays bridge with the President at Gettysburg.

What part George Allen played in the mysterious memo from the White House to the Voice of America could not be ascertained. But those who knew of his close relationship with Ike wondered.

Note—Judge Saund plans to go to India immediately after Congress adjourns, or at any other time the administration desires it.

Conflict of Interest

A top government consultant who was caught in a conflict of interest has quietly returned to his government job. He is John C. Clay, loaned to the government by National Starch Products in 1952 long enough to push through the company's application for tax amortization.

A House Judiciary Subcommittee, which investigated Clay, called his case "the most unusual illustration of services performed by a (government consultant) for an employer by means of an expense account."

Yet, despite the congressional blast, Clay was quietly rehired last month by the Commerce Department and assigned to the Defense Services Administration.

What outraged the Judiciary Subcommittee was an entertainment expense account which National Starch Products gave him while in Washington. In one year, Clay spent $2,300 on entertaining fellow government employees who could be helpful to his company. One voucher sent back to his company declared:

"Entertainment is running higher but contacts in the canning field are excellent at present. . . . Hal Meyer is good contact on both sponchiorhydrin, and more important is pushing the research lab portions of our T.A. (tax amortization)."

Clay was referring to his company's application for a rapid tax write-off on a new $698,000 plant. The application had been pigeonholed in Washington until Clay was loaned to the government as an unpaid consultant. He promptly undertook to push his company's application; he contacted government officials handling it and entertained them at the company's expense. Within one month he got the tax write-off approved. National Starch Products was so pleased with his success that it promptly filed for an additional tax write-off. Clay, working inside the government, continued to push his company's interest. For example, while he was supposed to be working for the taxpayers, he reported to his company:

"I have had several talks with Joe Rand who is director of the post certification division. He has examined his file on our T.A. (tax amortization) and thinks we have a good case."

On another occasion, Clay used his government influence to transfer Jacob Schaffer to the Commerce Department. The Judiciary Subcommittee charged that Clay's interest "appears to have been related to Mr. Schaffer's responsibilities for aiding Clay's employer. . . . in the continued operations of wet milling plants."

Clay left the government service July 13, 1953, after he had helped his company as much as he could. Believe it or not, he is now back in the Commerce Department again, on loan from National Starch Products.

Crisis Capsules

The National Security Council has definitely recommended backing Britain, France and Israel in case of Soviet intervention in the Middle East. This was the outcome of a grave, three-hour meeting Nov. 8. . . . Secretary of Defense Wilson took the lead in pleading that we cannot let the Russians take over the strategic Middle East oil fields. Adm. Arthur Radford, the joint chiefs chairman, gave a cold military estimate of what we could do to stop Russia. . . . Our strategy will be to localize the fighting, if possible, to the Middle East. . . . Despite British-French protests to the contrary, Central Intelligence has reported flatly that our allies knew in advance about Israel's plan to attack Egypt. Yet they kept us so completely in the dark that Secretary of State Dulles expected an attack on Jordan.

Boom In Beaver

Definite proof is now available that fur-minded women are eager for beaver.

None other than the Fish and Wildlife Service reports that during the 1954-55 trapping season more than 183,000 beaver pelts were collected.

Women are losing interest in other long-haired fur, it seems. Beaver is the only fur that has not slumped in demand.

It's not that there aren't plenty of muskrats, skunks, raccoons, opossums, weasels, otter and wolves running wild, say Fish and Wildlife officials. It's just that raw furs are bringing such low prices that trappers aren't interested.

But don't get too cocky, men. Despite the decline, minks supplied more than 400,000 pelts, and that's a lot of skin—even enough to cost you the coat off your back.

Briton Finds Parisian Love in the Air Slacks and Skirts for Holiday Wear

By ROSETTE HARGROVE
NEA Staff Correspondent

PARIS—(NEA)—France and the French way of life have always provided a profitable target for foreign writers. And the best audience for such writers seems to be the French, no matter how far from the truth the author may stray.

Currently cashing in on this Gallic self-interest is Hungarian-born George Mike, now a British subject with a book called "Petits Choux," or Little Cabbages, subtitled "Visiting the French."

Here's how he sees the French as compared to the Anglo-Saxon:

The Frenchman draws a definite line between work and play. He either works, or does no work at all. He seldom dawdles, doesn't take a break for a cigarette or coffee, but on the stroke of noon nothing could delay his sacrosanct lunch hour.

To be taken for a Frenchman you must make up your mind to be decadent. The decadence of France has been one of the most hackneyed topics of conversation for generations all over the world.

In France there are employees who will accept graft. But they consider it a present with no strings attached. On the other hand, many civil servants consider your offer of a tip an insult; you never know where you stand with them.

The French have three passions—thrift, food and love.

Saving to the Frenchman is as inspiring as a bullfight to the

L'AMOUR IN PAREE: "It is in the eyes of the men . . ."

Spaniard, the "sauna" bath to the Finn, TV to the Americans or standing in line to the British.

By 60 the Frenchman has usually saved a small fortune. He kills himself with work for the time when he won't have to work any more and denies himself all his life in order to have a first-class funeral.

For centuries Frenchmen have been considered decadent because love was their main preoccupation. Now, says Mike, l'amour has given way to food. The question is whether it's more moral to be obsessed by a succulent ragout than to dream of Lollabrigida's figure. Nevertheless, the French seem to prefer to die well than eat badly.

Drinking in France is not a passion; it's merely a habit. Jean Dupont—the French Joe Doakes—does not drink to excess, but he drinks all day long.

Mikes admits that to say the French prefer eating to making love is perhaps a little exaggerated. There's a great deal of talk about love in France—with a difference.

In London, a wronged husband is the hero of a tragedy and often gets damages. In Paris he's simply a cuckold, but he often kills his unfaithful wife; it's an old French custom.

Mikes does not say how he found out, but he reports the gossip that it's easier to be invited into a Frenchwoman's bedroom than in

Wrestler Says Billing Enraged a Spectator

DALLAS (P)—Promoter Ed McLeMore denied in court that he billed a wrestler as "mean, villainous, hard-hearted, merciless, cruel, cheating, sneaky, unsportsmanlike and cowardly."

J. W. Whitaker is suing McLeMore for $54,600 on grounds the billing so enraged a spectator against the wrestler that the spectator threw a bottle.

Whitaker claimed his skull was fractured.

Know Your America

Know your America and be

Thankful today that it is free,

Free to do simple things like these

To worship and work as we please.

Oh, God, here in this glorious land

Let us not fail to understand;

We must keep vigil day by day

Lest freedom may be snatched away.

That all the luxury we've known

May suddenly not be our own.

Let us be thankful that God's touch

Has given to our land so much,

That when we pay our taxes we

Are helping just to keep us free.

Here in the land we cherish so

May the flame of freedom glow

That we may see by its great light

America in all its might.

America in all its pride

And all the things it can provide.

Unto its shore the Pilgrims came

And many more men did the same.

To seek that precious thing they call

Freedom—freedom for one and all.

Guard it—that treasure that we hold.

A nation vast with wealth untold;

And may we never grow so blind

We cannot see—we cannot find

Time to give thanks—for we possess

So much, while others lives are less.

Let us be thankful for our way

Of life on this Thanksgiving Day.

Dr. Jordan Says—

When In Doubt, Play It Cool—Call a Doctor

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

When a person develops pain in the abdomen, the taking of cathartics or laxatives is dangerous. Many youngsters—and adults, too—have died because they took or were given a cathartic for abdominal pain.

If the cause is appendicitis, for example, this may cause the appendix to rupture; peritonitis may develop and perhaps death ensue. One should remember this for children as well as for grownups!

The use of a cough syrup for a chronic cough may delay the correct treatment of some serious disease, such as bronchitis or tuberculosis. This may permit the disease to become so far advanced that treatment which would have been helpful earlier is no longer effective.

The person who takes a tonic because of loss of weight without knowing the cause of the weight loss is running a big risk. Loss of weight is often a symptom of some serious disease, such as diabetes or cancer. If this early sign is ignored for too long, and the one who is losing weight merely tries to put it back on by eating a lot, the damage to the body may be so severe that it can never be entirely remedied.

The point I am trying to make is that it is sometimes difficult to decide whether a particular symptom requires medical attention or not. The average person does not like to consult a physician for some minor illness which will go away of itself. Many people also are thoughtful of their physicians, and do not consult them unless there is obvious need.

All doctors dread the delayed visit of some patient who has allowed a severe illness to go on too long. The chance of curing almost any disease is much better at the beginning than it is later on.

Yet, day after day, physicians are faced with the much more serious problems of treating people in the late stages of some serious condition because these persons have tried to treat themselves. We do not need a physician for everything, but when in doubt, it is better to be safe than to be sorry.

Ruth Millett Says—

Music, Phones, Enthusiasm; They Brand Girl Typical

She's a fairly typical teen-ager if—

She can call up a friend with whom she has just parted company and talk for an hour on the telephone, provided, of course, she can lie down while she talks.

She either talks or hates. She rarely shifts into neutral about anything or anybody.

She is convinced that her parents are stricter than anyone else's, even though each of her friends claims the same disgusting distinction.

She doesn't believe in keeping a boy waiting when she has a date. Her mother may have thought it was good technique to keep a young man cooling his heels until she made a good entrance. But today's daughters are ready in time to open the door to their dates.

Having a date with a "new" boy is fun but it's hard for an adult to tell which is more important about the date, HAVING it or talking about it afterward to all of her friends.

She has her record player going most of the time. She studies by it, turns it on for "background" when she has a chattering group of friends in her room, even goes to sleep with it turned low.

She finds out what at least 15 girls are going to wear to a party before she dares make the big decision of what to wear herself.

She has more irons in the fire than the rest of the family put together—or maybe it just seems so because everything is so very IMPORTANT.

She is probably more like you were at her age than you admit. And since you lived through this age once, it's a cinch you'll be able to live through it again. And most mothers find it is just as bewildering to live through a daughter's adolescence as it was through their own.

Publicity-Shy Hoover Is Top World Diplomat

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The sudden illness of John Foster Dulles will bring little comfort to anyone hoping for a weakening or softening of America's position in the world crisis.

As the reins of the State Department pass to the hands of Herbert Hoover, Jr., the Under Secretary of State, there will not be the slightest change in the pace or direction of U.S. foreign policy.

President Eisenhower bought this insurance more than two years ago when he personally selected the tough, silent son of the former President of the United States to take over the vital No. 2 spot in the State Department.

The Secretary made sure Hoover would be qualified if he ever had to take over completely by giving him an absolutely free hand to run things during Dulles' many absences.

And Hoover himself justified the hope which Ike and Dulles had in him by grasping the complex problems of the department in an amazingly short time, and administering the department with an efficiency it has seldom experienced.

Hoover looks like a polished diplomat. And when it's necessary he can act like one. He is handsome, tall and erect. His steel gray hair, neat, well-cut double-breasted suits add to the air of culture and reserve which he exudes.

He does not smile much. But neither does he ever lose his temper.

What does not show through this glossy exterior is his hardness and limitless drive. These qualities were developed while Hoover was building a multi-million dollar petroleum engineering firm at remote, dirty oil fields around the world.

Hoover is one of the few men in Washington who has announced that he does not want personal publicity, and means it. This has kept him out of the public eye, but has also proven that he is not interested in a future political career beyond his present position.

All his life young Hoover has worked hard to escape the shadow of his father's prominence. And this effort is apparent in his retiring, almost anti-social attitude.

Although Hoover has not been the darling of the cocktail set and has remained almost frigidly aloof from any social activity, one of his big assets has been the people he knows in important places around the world. This knowledge has frequently been of great value to the department.

In the current crisis in the Middle East Hoover's intimate knowledge of the complexities of the international oil business is invaluable. Oil politics is one of the roots of the trouble there.

Hoover first came to the attention of President Eisenhower by playing a key role in solving the Iranian oil crisis. He was able to accomplish this because he had previously won the respect of all parties concerned by the honest operation of his petroleum engineering firm.

Despite Hoover's attempt to keep out of the public eye—which he has done successfully — he has managed to develop some ardent enemies since taking over the second spot at the State Department.

There are those who claim he has committed several serious blunders. There are those who dislike the Dulles foreign policy and naturally don't like anyone who had a hand in directing it.

And there are those who just don't like the name of Hoover.

But Hoover has chosen to ignore his critics and enemies. He appears to be content with the approval which the President has bestowed on his efforts. And he is also apparently ready to go back to the private life which he seems to prefer whenever that time might come.

Odds and Ends By News Staff

FOR SOME TIME the woman had been sitting in her car on Osage and decided that it was time she put some money in the meter, since her husband seemed to be a little late getting off from work that afternoon. She had just settled herself comfortably again in the car when a nicely dressed man came up and began feeding the meter pennies. He paid no attention to the woman sitting there and then she began to wonder if she was in the right car. She looked the car over and decided it was hers. Then she looked around to see if there was another one of the same kind anywhere. There wasn't a car the make of hers in sight. Not only that, there wasn't another black car as far as she could see in any direction.

After the man had put in three or four pennies he turned and walked on down the street. He thought he was all set and the woman couldn't help wondering, as she saw the meter officer coming down the street checking cars, where the man was parked and whether he found a ticket on his car, when he finally located the car. Maybe he even came back later and found the car at that meter he had been putting the pennies in gone and reported it to the police as stolen. He wasn't very observing; he not only didn't know that wasn't his car, he didn't even see the woman sitting in it. He must have really been absorbed in his thoughts. — H. L.

General Assembly Leaves Out Vital Law

DOVER, Del. (AP)—Hundreds of new laws passed by the 118th General Assembly of Delaware will require two volumes when printed. But somebody goofed. A $10,000 appropriation for the printing never itself became law. The bill was never sent up for the governor's signature. This means the 119th legislature likely will get a deficiency bill.

Organizations Show Interest For Crippled Children's Center

Editor's Note: This is another in a series of articles relating to the Crippled Children's Center, Sedalia's newest health, educational, and welfare organization.

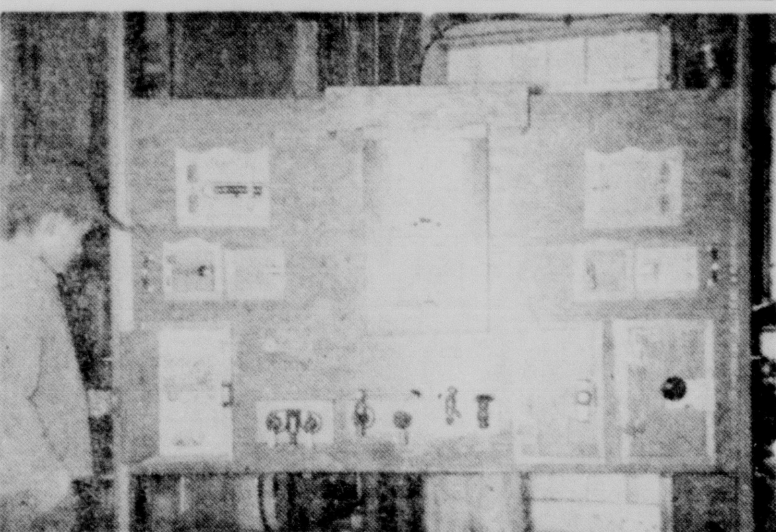

Community spirit determines whether any health, welfare or educational organization survives. Worthiness of such a program makes little difference unless there is public acceptance of such an organization.

The Crippled Children's Center, which is now located in the nurses' home at the Bothwell Hospital, falls within the realm of being worth while to Sedalia. Fortunately, the people of Sedalia are also rapidly falling in behind towards the support of the center. This has been exemplified in some recent public subscription, various civic clubs contributing needed equipment, a number of business establishments donating items necessary to the operation, and the fine help that a number of women are giving to the center as volunteer helpers. There is no doubt now but what the Crippled Children's Center will now succeed as a non-profit health, educational, and welfare institution.

A recent gesture by the Striped College 4-H Club is typical of what various community-minded people and organizations are doing to help make the center a recognized and respected project.

It all started several weeks ago when it was mentioned by Mrs. Rudolph Swope, director of the center, and members of her staff that the center needed a "gadget board". They had observed at other schools for the handicapped that the gadget board would do much to develop coordination, muscular control, along with teaching the exceptional children the handling of various items found about their homes.

Harold W. Barrick, president of United Cerebral Palsy of Pettis County, and board member of the center, who had originally taken the lead in spearheading the center, contacted Merle Vaughan, county extension agent, to solicit his help in securing the services of some farm youth organization in making a gadget board for the center.

Vaughan sought out the help of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Dabner, who are the woodwork leaders of the Striped College 4-H Club. It is also noted that Mrs. Dabner is the 4-H community leader in her area.

Following a planning meeting with Mrs. Swope, the Dabners then called a meeting of the 4-H club for a group session on what was desired. Ultimately, 25 youngsters of the woodworking class, ranging in ages between 9 and 18 years, were assigned particular duties in securing various articles to go on the board and were relegated certain jobs to perform on the board itself. The class included two girls.

All the members started collecting anything and everything loose that was thought might be used on the board. Cash Hardware Co. and the Claude Lambirth Plumbing Co. joined in to add a few things that were needed. The Davis Paint Store completed the board by contributing a miniature venetian blind to fit the miniature window made by the class.

Door knobs, faucets, switches, handles, latches, drawers, a modern and old fashion telephone, plumbing fixtures, light bulbs, and numerous other manually operated items were strategically placed on the board.

Even after the articles were collected, the class still needed money to buy the wood, wiring, bulbs, and other gadgets required. The fund was started with the collection of $5 from the Rural Life 4-H Sunday Program. Each year the club gives this donation to some worthy cause. The 4-H Club broke a precedent, however, and voted to add $10 to this amount, as the leaders thought at that time it would be ample to cover the final expense. When it was found that the gadget board had developed into a project more expensive than the name denoted, the Striped College Extension Club came to the rescue and helped out financially, giving enough to cover the remainder of the expense. It developed from what started out to be a 4-H woodwork project into a whole Striped College community affair.

The gadget board took three weeks for completion. The class worked in groups of five or six boys and girls three or four nights each week. Mr. and Mrs. Dabner carefully supervised the work of each group in Mr. Dabner's workshop at his farm home.

The board is finished in natural wood, it stands six feet high, and it is adjustable to three heights to assist in complimenting the heights of the 25 handicapped children at the center. The lights and the phones on the board actually work. Behind each door that the children will be taught to open is a different picture of some delightful animal or pet.

Needless to say, the whole community in the Striped College area is proud of the achievement—not to mention the handicapped

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Finley, who are 4-H project leaders in other fields, assisted a committee in delivering and presenting the gadget board to the center.

Cowboys or Space Ships— Boys' Rooms Need Decor That Suggests Movement

HE'S A YOUNG COW HAND—So why not give him a home-on-the-range decor. The cowboy on the wall board is made of braided nylon cord rope sculptured on board.

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Do you expect your little cowboy, Indian or space cadet to be overjoyed that his room is to be redecorated? Get set for a let-down. He'll probably retort with: "Who cares?" If he's old enough to be especially voluble he'll let you know that he likes his room the way it is — bugs in jars, unslung arrows and all.

Little boys are not impressed with crisp organdy curtains and fancy wallpaper. They want a view that will not conceal the great vistas of which they dream.

A little boy's room is for wondering. Is he impressed by the stars? Plan an astronomical layout for him — perhaps a ceiling etched with big and little dippers, planets from which he can visualize Martians soaring into outer space, stars twinkling back at his stargazing. He may make the designs himself with the aid of Mom or

Dad. They may be cut out of a book, anchored with transparent tape or rubber cement. A large map may go to the wall or a large world globe may grace a desk.

Static art doesn't whip up a little fellow's imagination. He needs art with movement and flowing lines that may carry him off to the distant places in his make-believe world.

The cowboy may get all the excitement of a thrill-packed "Western" with a new type of wall sculpture. A leisure time project for Mom, it is put together with nylon cord rope.

Here's How — Silhouette an object, such as a cowboy and his horse with a rope on a piece of wallboard. Outline it with the cord rope. Rubber cement is a good fastener or use a stapling machine, small brads or pins. If pins are used, wire snippers may cut the ends of the pins from the back of the board. White braided nylon is a good corded rope for this purpose. Put the object up on the

Kitchens Need Comfort. Style For Homemaker

Considering the number of hours that the homemaker spends in the kitchen — even with the many labor-saving devices at her command — the kitchen should have a generous amount of comfort, a dash of style and the spice of color.

Modern kitchens stress each of these equally, and the oldest house can take on new kitchen tricks with proper planning.

In the trend to making the kitchen the second "living room" many owners of older homes are knocking down walls of obsolete pantries, hallways, service rooms, etc. to gain more area for the sink, cabinets, work surfaces plus eating facilities.

Built-in surface gas or electric burners, built-in ovens and dishwashers all help make every inch of space doubly useful.

The trend continues also to use of islands, peninsulas and dividers to give the kitchen work surfaces on top, and valuable storage facilities below.

Lazy-Susan revolving shelves installed in hard to reach corners now help make former waste space of practical use.

Special built-in units make every possible inch of space of some value to the homemaker. Bins for trays, utensils, desk surfaces, double-duty table tops all play an important role in the up-to-date kitchen.

Lightweight, knock-down kitchen cabinets can be installed with ordinary tools and will save you dollars.

You can cover table-tops with leather or marble-like materials which have self-adhesive backs.

You'll find decorating is easy with pre-cut, ready to hang wallpapers. By using a paint roller instead of a brush, painting will be simple even for the novice.

With pre-mixed cement (you just add water), you can pour gutters, culverts, lay a flagstone patio or walk and sidewalks.

Plan now to do one of these easy do-it-yourself projects. Don't be afraid to be original and don't worry about making mistakes. The real pleasure and satisfaction of any project is in its creation.

New Tools Simplify Projects

Americans are fast becoming a nation of homecraftsmen; and 172 million dollars a year are invested in power tools alone. People have found they enjoy remodeling, repairing and modernizing their homes inside and out. They save money and achieve a great amount of personal satisfaction in saying, "I did it."

Maybe you have never lifted a finger to drive a nail, but would like to be creative. There are many worthwhile do-it-yourself projects that the average homemaker with no special technical knowledge can do.

Make your first do-it-yourself project a simple one. Take advantage of new tools, pre-cut materials and instruction kits made especially for the home craftsman.

You can beautify your kitchen, bath or den with easy to install wall and floor tiles. Many come with a complete laying kit.

Countertop Lavatory Is Convenient Fixture To Put in Bedrooms

One of the most convenient fixtures for the family bedroom is the vanity or countertop lavatory which permits dressing and grooming while the bathroom is occupied, says the Plumbing Fixture Manufacturers Association.

Dressing table lavatories come in many popular colors as well as white and provide plenty of cabinet space for perfumes, toilet articles, make-up and cosmetics.

Home and Building

CLASSIC STYLING and expansion convenience give this house a wide appeal. The first floor provides two bedrooms. The second story can be finished when needed. The house covers 1,340 square feet without two-car garage and porch. This is plan R-4619AP by Derick B. Kipp, architect, House Plan Headquarters, Room 75, 117 W. 48th St., New York 36, N. Y.

Changing Background Color Can Transform Most Rooms

Have you been wishing that you could improve your home by transforming your living room, bedroom or kitchen? Have you been dreaming of giving one—or all—of these rooms new beauty? The biggest single change you can make does not lie in replacing your furniture or your fabrics, but in changing the room's background color. This, you yourself can do, easily, quickly and inexpensively—with the aid of the countless beautiful hues of paint that are now available.

You can repaint the ceiling, walls and woodwork of an average room for less than $10. And as for the time it takes, you'll be surprised how rapidly you can apply the color, in a very few hours, at most.

Before repainting a ceiling—or any other surface, for that matter—make sure that all cracks are carefully filled, then smoothed level with the surface. Small hair-line cracks can be filled with spackling material. Larger ones often need patching plaster. Your dealer will be glad to tell you exactly how to use it.

Another important thing to do before you begin to paint is to remove the hardware from your doors and windows and to loosen your lighting fixtures. This will make your painting job easier.

Check Points For Home's Heat System

Want to modernize your heating system because you suffer in winter months from drafts, cold floors or walls, fluctuating temperatures, noisy equipment, cold pockets or chilly corners?

Don't be too hasty. Your troubles may be due to minor flaws in installation or equipment. Before you jump into your modernization job, check to see what you really need. Then proceed to bring your home heating up to date.

Here are six points compiled by the Institute of Boiler and Radiator Manufacturers to use as a guide.

Symptom: Temperature variation. Sensation of warmth about the shoulders and cold about the feet.

Cause: In a new house, flaws in design or installation of system. Thermostat may be too close to a lamp, TV or appliance, all of which affect proper operation of this "watchdog." In an old house, need for a simple cleaning or servicing of equipment. Also, improper placement of heating baseboards, convectors or radiators.

Symptom: Drafts, sudden chilling air movement . . . persistent head colds.

Cause: Improper insulation of walls or lack of weather-stripping and storm windows. (If heat distributors are not placed under windows, infiltration of cold air sets up air movement in room.)

Symptom: Cold floors. Worry about children's health.

Cause: Insufficient size heating plant, poor design of system or improper placement of heat distributors. In a panel heating system with tubing embedded in floor, insufficient size of boiler or furnace, flaws in design of system, heat distributors are improperly placed.

Symptom: Dirt . . . dust . . . Streaked walls or smudged drapes.

Cause: Heating plant, burner and flue passageways need cleaning. (Call a competent heating contractor for annual check-up and cleaning.)

Caulking Gun Useful, Inexpensive for Home

Caulking is another continuous need well worth the effort on older homes. Use of a caulking gun, an inexpensive implement every homeowner should have, is the easiest way to fill cracks around window and door frames, between siding and chimneys, around flashing, for repointing masonry and any other place where swelling and shrinking of wood has left openings. In many instances caulking takes the place of flashing on upkeep and repair jobs.

Caulking compound also is a valuable aid for jobs inside the house, such as around bathtubs, shower stalls and tiles. Its waterproofing quality makes it a successful agent for any task involving moisture.

It can be used for minor cracks in the basement, but leaking basement walls usually require more extensive repair.

In the ten years following World War II the children under 18 in the United States reached a record total of fifty-five and two-thirds million.

Various Furniture Patterns Are Available for Handyman to Use

Whether your home is in a modern mood, or furnished in a traditional decor . . . but if many of the home furnishings are worn and outdated, you can easily "right the problem," without "wrecking your budget."

Available today are hundreds of various furniture patterns in either contemporary, provincial or early American designs.

Modern techniques and materials make these built-it-yourself pieces simple enough for the average handyman to handle with the aid of some power tools.

Coffee tables, chairs, buffets, divans, chests, desks, end tables plus an infinite variety more can be constructed with new, easy-handling plywood or lumber panels.

Construction plans usually contain the pattern pieces (handed as simply as a dress-making pattern); a bill of materials; hardware and trim listings; detailed instructions for building and also for finishing.

Smith-Cotton Salvages 14-14 Tie With Kemper in CMC

Tigers End Season 1-2-1 in Conference

Held to Deadlock by Fired-Up Yellowjackets at Kemper Friday

The Smith-Cotton Tigers ended their 1956 season with a not too impressive record, three wins, six losses and one tie. The most recent results were Friday at Boonville where the Kemper Yellow Jackets, the weakest team in the Central Missouri Conference, came through to pull a tie score with the Tigers 14 to 14.

Coach Ralph "Stub" Dow, after the Tigers scored the first touchdown in the opening quarter, began sending in his reserves to get experience, and when the Varsity returned they were in worse condition than the reserve material. The game was out of hand and before the Smith-Cotton aggregation could pull themselves together were trailing 7-14 at the half, then eked out another score in the third period to get an even break.

The game ended football for the Conference circuit, with the Tigers in third place, Kemper remaining in the cellar. There was no argument over the championship Jefferson City team winning all four conference tilts with a combined score of 118 points to their opponents' 26.

Hickman of Columbia was second in the conference with a 3-1 record and total points of 96 to 27; Smith-Cotton third with a 1-2-1 record and 38 to 71 points; Hannibal fourth with a 1-3 record and scoring 46 to 84 points; Kemper fifth with a 0-3-1 record and scoring 40 to 130 points.

Friday afternoon the Tigers just could collect themselves and played what appeared to the side-line followers as Sedalia's poorest game of the season.

The Tigers jumped to a first quarter lead of 7-0, when they took over on their own 49 yard line and rolled to four straight first downs for 50 yards with Charles Newman carrying through the right side of the line for the score. Ronald Gates booted the extra point.

The scoring seem to only spur the Yellow Jackets and they came back as a highly spirited squad in the second quarter after giving the ball to the Tigers on a punt. The Sedalians began a drive from their 12 yard line which carried them along the route on four first downs and the ball was on Kemper's 31 yard line. The Tigers added five yards, lost them on a penalty, Murray tossed two incomplete passes, and then Kemper took over.

Rick Boeve, after Kemper had been penalized five yards, took the ball on his own 26 and squirmed in and out of the Tigers for 74 yards and the first Kemper touchdown. Ben Lanford carried it over for the extra point.

This stimulated the Kemper boys and they were ready for any break. On the kickoff the Sedalians had it on their own 41. They lost two yards and then fumbled with Kemper recovering on the 39 yard line. Tom Biggs ran to the goal line but was called back on a penalty and the ball was placed on the 27, a 12 yard gain. Biggs picked up nine yards on two plays, then Glenn Neele took it and went crashing through the Tiger line for 18 yards and the score. He also carried it over the line for the extra point.

The half ended with the Yellow Jackets' stinger high in the air and the Tiger's tail drooping, a score of 14-7.

In the third quarter the Tigers took over on the Kemper 30 after the Yellow Jackets had succeeded in stopping a previous Tiger drive which carried them to the seven yard line. The punt by Kemper was taken by Murray who returned it five yards.

It took the Tigers one first down and three plays to make the score. With six yards to go, James Murray took the ball, fumbled, scooped it up and crashed over the line for the touchdown. Dan Reed carried it through the line for the extra point to tie up the score.

During the fourth quarter Kemper had the ball on its 46 yard line as the period opened. The Yellow Jackets moved it to the Tiger 40, then fumbled with the Tigers recovering on the 41. The Sedalians got it back to the 49, fumbled and Kemper took over. From then on the ball game was played in the Tiger territory.

In the final seconds of the game Kemper pushed the ball back to the Tiger four yard line, and with the Sedalians in possession Murray tried three times to pass, all being unsuccessful. Then he ran it for two yards, hoping the clock would run out. Instead, two seconds were left, one play was made by Kemper, and a pass was completed out of bounds didn't count, and went as an in-

Face Rugged Schedule—Hamm's Beer Cagers to Open Season Against WAFB Team

The Hamm's Beer basketball team of Sedalia will open its 1956-57 cage campaign Wednesday night against the Whiteman Air Force Base five at the air base.

According to Jim Dickman, distributor of Hamm's Beer in this area and sponsor of the Sedalia team for the second consecutive year, the locals again will follow a rugged schedule participating in the outstanding tournaments over the state and meeting the top independent and amateur clubs in Missouri and some colleges.

Hamm's completed preparations for their opener Saturday night by playing an exhibition tilt with the Leaton Independents. Coach John Mais was well pleased with the performance of his charges as they rolled-up an easy 81-50 triumph. Newcomer John Lennox, a 6-6 center, was particularly impressive, scoring 32 points during the two quarters he saw action. Lennox played his college ball with the Central Missouri State College "Mules" and last season led the Rolla Independents to the state championship in the Sedalia Lions' Annual Tournament.

The nucleus of last season's club, plus such outstanding additions as Lennox, gives promise that Sedalia will be represented by one of the strongest independent teams in the state. Coach Mais stressed that his club would play a hurry-up type of ball. He pointed out that he had ten well conditioned men ready for action and could substitute freely since each man was a proven performer.

Coach John Mais and his assistant, Bob Michaelis, found it a difficult task when they began weeding the large field of aspirants to the ten man limit. In making their selections, they managed to name a team which averages slightly over 6-foot 2-inches. In addition to Lennox, the roster includes:

Bud Thomas, 6-2, guard. Bud, a veteran of many seasons on the local hardwood, starred at Smith-Cotton during his high school days and has been the spark-plug of Sedalia's finest independent clubs. Last season he averaged 15-points per game for Hamm's.

Francis Giger, 6-3, forward. Without reservation, Giger is rated as one of the finest cagers in the area. Playing his college ball for Missouri Valley, he was named to the Little All-American basketball team in 1947. Last season he averaged 30-points-plus in every game for Hamm's.

Boone Anderson, 6-4, forward. Anderson is another addition to the 1956 Hamm's team. A native of Green Ridge, where he starred in high school days, Boone has been playing in Central Missouri independent circles for several seasons he had a 30-point-per game average with the Windsor Independents.

Don Brown, 5-11, guard. Brown is starting his second season with Hamm's. Last year he averaged slightly over 10-points per game, but was better known for his smooth-ball-handling ability. Brown also played his college ball at Missouri Valley.

Ray "Bud" Homan, 6-2, forward, is rated as one of the most improved players on the Hamm's roster, although he averaged over 20-points in each game last season. Homan played for Smith-Cotton in 1951 and 1952.

Chuck Branson, 6-2, guard. Branson, another graduate from CMC Warrensburg where he starred for Earl Keith's Mules, will be making his debut with Hamm's Wednesday night. Last season, while playing for the Warsaw Independents, Branson averaged nearly 25 points per game.

George Thompson, 6-4, forward. "Big George" is beginning another season on the local hardwoods with Hamm's. An able performer in any competition, George is a fine rebounder and a reliable point-maker. He averaged 10 a game last season.

Dean Edwards, 6-4, forward and center. Edwards played part of last season with Hamm's before moving to Kansas. The Smith-Cotton product is a real hustler and is capable of handling either the center or forward slots.

Bob Reavis, 5-11, guard. Reavis played his high school ball with La Monte and last season was a member of Hamm's. Probably the swiftest man on this year's team, he is an exceptionally fine fast break man.

CMSC to Open '56-'57 Cage Season Dec. 6

WARRENSBURG, Nov. 17 (Special)—Basketball hopes for the 1956-57 season are high at Central Missouri State College as the 1955-56 Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association runner-up team returns to the boards here this season minus only one first-string man.

The missing letterman is Robert Gunter, a guard who lettered three years with the CMSC "Mules." Also lost to the squad by graduation was Jim Hosler, reserve center.

The "Mules" came out of the season last year with a 7-3 conference record, only one game behind the champion Kirkville "Bulldogs," who ended the season with an 8-2 record. The "Mules" overall record was 9-11.

The season's schedule is:

December 6—US NAS, Memphis, Tenn., there.

December 7—Austin Peay College, Clarksville, Tenn., there.

December 8—Evansville College, Evansville, Ind., there.

December 10—(Tentative) Alumni game, here.

December 13 — Austin College, Sherman, Tex., here.

Sooners Smother Helpless Mizzou

Okies Rout Tigers 67-14 for 38th Straight Victory, 9th Big 7 Title

NORMAN, Okla., Nov. 17 (P) — Oklahoma's touchdown twins, Tommy McDonald and Clyenton Thomas, led the Sooners to their 38th straight victory here today, crushing a good Missouri squad 67-14.

The victory gave Oklahoma its ninth straight Big Seven Conference title under Coach Bud Wilkinson.

Oklahoma dropped from first to second in the national ratings by Tennessee this week, is now undefeated in 48 conference tilts.

The Sooners scored handily both on the ground and in the air, with All - America Tommy McDonald tallying twice including one TD on a 57-yard romp.

Another pair was made by his halfback mate, Clendon Thomas. Missouri showed spotty class, mostly with Tiger quarterback Jimmy Hunter running his bootleg play but alert Oklahoma cut off scoring drives by intercepting Hunter's passes on the Sooner three in the second and third periods.

Both Missouri touchdowns came in the final quarter as Wilkinson was using his entire squad of 55.

Fourth string quarterback Ken Clemensen passed for both Tiger touchdowns, pitching the first two yards to Fred Henger over the goal and the second to George Boucher for seven yards as time ran out in the game.

While the deadly touchdown twins or McDonald and Thomas each made two tallies, the other six were distributed among Carl Dodd, Jackie Sandifer, Dale Sherrod, Don Stiller, David Baker and John Pellow.

Oklahoma, which leads the nation in offense, rolled 464 yards on the ground and completed five of 14 passes—two for touchdowns — for 138 yards.

Missouri, which tied Oklahoma in first downs with 20, made 201 yards on the ground and 122 in the air.

The defeat was a tough one to take for veteran Missouri coach Don Faurot, who is winding up his tenure this year.

He taught Wilkinson the split-T offense, which Oklahoma uses to deadly advantage. Faurot's Missouri teams have never beaten a Wilkinson-coached team and the licking was the worst ever suffered by the Tigers in the 47-game series.

Missouri 0 0 0 14-14
Oklahoma 27 19 14-67

Missouri scoring: Henger (2, pass from Clemensen); Boucher (7, pass from Clemensen); Conversions: Rash, Mehrer.

Oklahoma scoring: Thomas (11, pass from McDonald; 5, plunge); McDonald (23, run; 57, run); Dodd (8, run); Stiller (41, pass from Harris); Sandifer (8, run); Sherrod (8, plunge); Baker (20, run); Pellow (1, plunge); Conversions: Harris 3, Dodd 2, O'Neal, Rolle.

The local group insists if a strip were built here it would take these daredevils off the highways around Sedalia.

A desire for such a sport is nationwide, which was brought out by the national competition in Kansas City last summer. Any number of hot-rodders here insist they would and will cooperate in driving from the highways those who insist on taking their chances on public roads, by encouraging them to become members of the local group and educate them on drag racing on a strip made for the purpose.

"If we can get the cooperation from the Sedalia public," said one representative, "we will build our own strip. We'll see that it is a success."

These individuals, surprising to me, are not youngsters but men well past the 21-age. They should be able to handle the situation. That, I would recommend.

Faurot finishes his coaching career at the end of this season, after announcing several weeks ago he would turn over the reins to new blood.

I have suggested, as if it would have any bearing, Coach Volney Ashford of Missouri Valley. But it is doubtful if Volney would give it a thought, being Vice-President of Missouri Valley and his position fairly well "nailed down" for as long as he would want it.

Apparently those who talk about it think it will have to be someone who favors the Split "T" or he wouldn't even get a

Hubbard Opens Season With Warsaw Tuesday

Hubbard High School's Tigers get their first test at basketball this coming Tuesday night when they travel to Warsaw to meet the high school team there. Coach Browder of the Tigers is confident he will have a strong team this season and says his boys are looking toward victory.

Warsaw doesn't seem to be worried too much and is ready for the invasion.

DeSouza Meets Dusek in Mat Bout Tuesday

TUESDAY'S WRESTLING CARD

In the Sedalia Armory—8:15

MAIN EVENT

Ernie Dusek, 235, Omaha, vs. Mario DeSouza, 230, Lisbon, Portugal. Best two out of three falls, or a 60-minute time limit.

SEMI-WINDUP

The Mighty Atlas, 225, Hollywood, Calif., vs. Gentleman Jim Dobie, 226, Independence, Mo. Best two out of three falls, or a 45-minute time limit.

GIRLS' MATCH

Lorraine (Tigress) Johnson, 140, Red Wing, Minn., vs. Ada Ash, 147, Gerald, Mo. One fall, or a 30-minute time limit.

EXTRA SPECIAL ATTRACTION

Pogo, the world-famous boxing kangaroo, will be in a boxing exhibition with Tommy Wallace. (This attraction will be presented as a special event preceding the regular three wrestling matches).

Matches sponsored by Pettis American Legion Post.

Portugal's Mario DeSouza, regarded as the best European wrestler to tour the American ring in recent years, will work on his theory that wide-open wrestling can win out over rough-housing tactics. De Souza has challenged Ernie Dusek in a clash for supremacy Tuesday night in the Sedalia Armory.

His match with Ernie Dusek was of his own choosing. DeSouza, in accepting Matchmaker Gust Karras' contract to return here, personally asked the promoter to land him a match with any member of the Dusek clan. Ernie accepted Mario's challenge.

Popular Jim Dobie, master of the abdominal stretch and rolling leg grapevine, will pit his speed and agility against Mighty Atlas, the arrogant Hollywood strong man, in Tuesday's semi-windup. Atlas has rolled up 18 successive victories since his arrival on the Mid-Western mat scene a month ago and so far every opponent he's faced has felt a victim of the vicious Atlas nelson.

Dobie has twice scouted Atlas' strong-arm wrestling style and the likeable Missourian told the matchmaker that he feels confident that Atlas relies too much on his strength and not enough on science. "I believe that I can out-fox Atlas," Dobie commented. "It's true that Atlas is a powerful-built athlete but I think he has a tendency to be muscle-bound. I intend to out-manuever and out-wrestle him all the way."

Lorraine (Tigress) Johnson, who has quickly earned the nickname of wrestling's crown princess, will stake her unquarrelled record against Missouri's own Ada Ash of Gerald in the girls' feature match

HEY, FELLA, EASY DOES IT—Al Szasz, wrestler and animal trainer, appears to be getting kangaroo-handled by Pogo, famous boxing kangaroo which will be in a special boxing exhibition in the Sedalia Armory ring Tuesday night. Pogo has been featured in many TV shows for children and Legion Matchmaker Gust Karras is bringing the Australian critter here as an extra attraction in addition to the regular three-match wrestling card Tuesday.

Tigers Open Cage Season At Jeff City

Smith-Cotton high school Tigers will open the 1956-57 basketball season with their first high school competition being in the Jefferson City Invitational Tournament. This tournament opens on Tuesday, Dec. 4, and continues through Friday, Dec. 7.

The first game in the Central Missouri Conference circuit play will be on Friday, Dec. 14, when the Tigers meet the Hannibal Pirates on the local court.

There will be three games in December other than the Jefferson City tourney and the Alumni game. Eldon plays here on Tuesday, Dec. 18, and from then until January 4, the Tigers will have practice sessions with a brief lay-off for Christmas.

Friday, Jan. 4, opens the 1957 portion of the schedule when the Tigers meet Hickman at Columbia in a conference game. From then on the locals will be busy playing two game each week, other than which takes the special event billing. Miss Johnson's October victory here over Chicago's Joan Ballard has gone down in the record books as the most outstanding girl's match ever held in the Armory.

Matchmaker Karras has an unusual treat in store for the mat patrons Tuesday when he brings Pogo, the world-famous boxing kangaroo, to the Armory for a special boxing exhibition. Pogo's appearance is an extra free attraction in addition to the regular three wrestling matches. Pogo will spar three rounds with Tommy Wallace.

"The kiddies have seen Pogo on TV and now I'm giving them the treat of seeing him in person," the genial matchmaker commented. "I know both the adults and the children will get a big boot out of seeing this fabulous animal don boxing gloves and punch leather."

Tuesday night's matches will get under way at 8:15 with the Armory doors and box office opening at 7:15. The Legion has tickets on advance at the Pacific Cafe and the Midway Shoe Repair shop.

T & O Lime-Rock Second Team—Sedalia Entry in American Bowling Meet Grows to Two

Sedalia's second entry in The American Bowling Congress National Tournament was announced this week by Earl Thomas, manager of the T & O Lime and Rock Company bowling team.

The T & O Lime and Rock team, composed of Fred Whitfield, Gordon Morris, Jack Vaughan, Charley Keller and Earl Thomas, will accompany the Phillips 66 team, sponsored by Virgil Herrick, to the tournament to be held in Fort Worth, Texas, in March of next year.

Six 600 series were bowled in official league action this week with Louis Heuerman getting two of them. Heuerman had 608 in the Monday Merchant League on games of 202, 192, and 214 and repeated his stellar performance in the Thursday Businessmen's League with a 625 series on games of 202, 219, and 204.

Clarence Friedly took second honors for the week with a fine 620 series on games of 224 200, and 196. Perk Dieckhouse put together three fine games of 204, 210, and 203 for a 617 series, a new high for the Town and Country Shoe League. Fran Tray, genial jeweler, had three notable series headed by a 605, a 572 composed of games of 204, 181, and 220, and a 574. Bill Shockey of the Classic League put together a 190, 180 and a 234 for 604.

Other fine series over the 570-190 average mark were bowled by Gerald Horst, 598; Earl Thomas, 598; John Hazel, 573; Ken Pabst, 579; Joe Long, 571 and 579; Bob Land, 574; Jim Ryan, 570; John Bowman, 571; Fred Whitfield, 571; Carl Gramlich, 572; and Niel Chapman, 582.

Big single games were rolled by Dick Eckhoff, 248; Vernon Bingham, 224; John Hazel, 230; Paul Weimholt, 227; Rosie Cummins, 235; Joe Long, 220; and Ben Bennett, 245.

The Knights of Columbus in the Friday Minor League bowled a very commendable 3131 series, third high in league competition this season.

Johns Auto Supply of the Classic League and Miller High Life of the Monday Merchant League will travel to Jefferson City for their try at the team event of the Missouri State Tournament on Sunday afternoon.

Lela Norton, bowling in the Whiteman Officers' Wives League, set a new seasons high series of 568 on games of 177, 217, and 174 to head the ladies league action. Lela also put several spares and strikes together for another 204 game in the Eager League. Other commendable series were rolled by Celeste McCulley, 506; Joan Greene 501 and 463 with a 202 game; Georgia Giokaris, 494; and Audry Hall, 485.

Ray Young, captain of Blue Young's Sheet Metal team in the Minor League had the bowling oddity of the week with a 123 triplacate score.

Reinhart-Welch Sales Company ladies team bowled a 2467 team series at the Womens Missouri State Tournament at St. Joseph, but failed to get in the prize money. In the doubles Kay Cox and Carrie Campeau bowled 1053, while Dot Daniels and Lela Norton had 1035. Singles scores were as follows: Lela Norton, 554; Dot Daniels, 533; Carrie Campeau, 498, and Kay Cox, 529.

This weekend will find Falstaff Beer, Adco, Inc. and Acme Clearners traveling to St. Joseph to try their luck in the Womens State Tournament.

W. L. Simpson Named Missouri Press Head

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 17 (AP)—W. L. Simpson, owner of the Holden Progress, was elected president of the Missouri Press Assn. at its convention here today, succeeding Joe M. Roberts of the Maysville DeKalb County Herald.

Roberts was named to the board of directors, replacing Mack F. Denman, Farmington News. Charles E. Watkins, Chillicothe, Constitution-Tribune, was elected to the board.

Woman Charged With Slaying Her Daughter

CHICAGO, Nov. 17 (AP)—A 40-year-old woman accused of killing her daughter in a family feud told police today she was angry because her estranged husband "grabbed" a little boy they had adopted.

Mrs. Storm J. Cooper, police said, admitted shooting her 20-year-old daughter, Mrs. Carol Evelyn Pieroni in the office of Dr. Roland A. Cooper, 42, a dentist.

The daughter, a dental technician and wife of a medical student, worked in her stepfather's office.

Mrs. Cooper was quoted by sheriff's deputies as saying: "I'm sorry, I didn't mean to kill her. But she always sided with him. She took his part and shielded him."

The slaying occurred yesterday in the Farnsworth civilian housing project two miles west of the nearby Great Lakes Naval Training Center. Mrs. Cooper was charged with murder today by federal authorities and placed in the Cook County (Chicago) jail.

Paul Gould, Lees Summit Journal, recording secretary, and Victor Gierke, Louisiana Press Journal treasurer.

HAPPY PEOPLE EVERYWHERE HAVE FOUND IT—WHY NOT YOU?

HEALTHFUL WAY TO BREAK THE LAXATIVE DRUG HABIT

ALL-BRAN AND MILK—NATURE'S GREAT FOOD COMBINATION

For relief from irregularity due to insufficient bulk

Delicious, appetizing—solid nutritional benefits

Is the laxative drug habit becoming an increasingly annoying and unpleasant problem with you, as it has with so many adults?

Then here is a simple fact that may come as welcome news to you: Millions of grown men and women like yourself have found the answer to their irregularity problem without resorting to harsh purgatives that drain the system—without the use of habit-forming drugs. They have simply changed to an appetizing and nourishing breakfast serving of Kellogg's All-Bran with milk.

How is it that Kellogg's All-Bran can succeed in so many cases where drugs and chemicals fail? For this one reason. Such preparations, intended only for relief of temporary stoppage, contain no bulk. Yet, lack of bulk is one of the common causes of constipation. So, because All-Bran provides all the good food bulk you need daily, it brings gentle, lasting relief from irregularity.

The Flavor Best Liked by Millions. You may be interested to know, too, that All-Bran is one of the most nutritious breakfast foods you can eat. And so very tempting, many prefer it to other cereals on taste alone.

W. K. Kellogg, who originated All-Bran over 40 years ago, made certain of this. Mr. Kellogg discovered that the outer layers of the whole wheat grain were not only a fine natural laxative food but rich in nutritive value as well. He found, too, a special way of milling so as to improve the flavor of the whole grain without losing any of its natural laxative effectiveness or nutrition.

Little wonder that Kellogg's All-Bran, the original, has grown to be the most widely accepted and used of all bran cereals. So why don't you try it? Eat a half cup of Kellogg's All-Bran every morning for 10 days. Get back on schedule the gentle, natural way.

If All-Bran does not satisfy you in every way, return empty carton and get double your money back. That's a promise from Kellogg's of Battle Creek, Michigan.

'It's Always Book Time' Is Theme for Book Week

"It's always book time" is the theme for national book week, Nov. 25-Dec. 1. We at Boonslick Regional Library invite you to come in and share that time with us.

If you are seeking some light pleasant entertainment you will enjoy Fred Gipson's story of a boy and his dog "Old Yeller". Or you may like two new Civil War stories, "Roll Shenandoah" by Bruce Lancaster, or "Kentucky Pride" by Gene Markey. Then there is the ever popular new Verby novel, "Captain Rebel."

If you are curious about some subject, be it uranium mining to lace making the chances are there are books available to help you. There is a new biography of Nehru by Frank Moraes. Nehru's increased stature among peoples all over the world makes him an important figure in maintaining world peace and security.

For the mechanically minded two new titles are Crouse's "Auto-

Stover Church Holds Men-Boys Banquet

One of the finest meetings of its kind was the Men and Boys' Banquet of the Stover First Baptist Church which was held in the American Legion building recently. Fifty-two men and boys enjoyed a chicken dinner prepared by the ladies of the Missionary Society and served by the Girls' Auxiliary of the church.

This service was a part of the south-wide Royal Ambassador Focus Week observance, which is an effort to recognize the boys of the community and to line them up with the Royal Ambassadors, a missionary organization of the church.

The pastor, the Rev. Charles A. Whaley was toastmaster and introduced the following during the evening: Arnold Marriott and Caryl Carter, teachers of boys' class-ses in the Sunday School; Jake Fry the R. A. counselor for the church; Frank Rowe of Versailles, the R. A. leader for Lamine Baptist Association; James Rastorfor, local Brotherhood president and president of the Lamine Baptist Association; Ernest Hughes, the principal speaker. His subject was "Finding and Using Men's Quartet composed of Ernest Smith as the piano accompanist.

retary of Missouri Baptists and Boys."

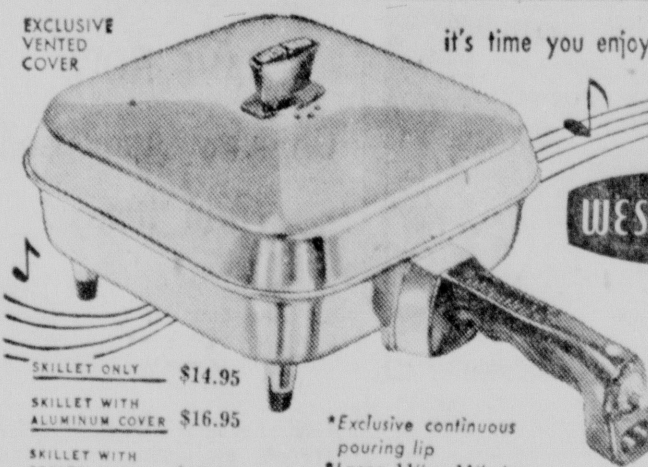

[Hughes, J. E. Fry, Caryl Carter and Calvin Marriott with Cloyd Smith as the piano accompanist.

Joey Wishes For Eyesight Like Others

PITTSBURGH — Many children going to school today are thinking of what they'll get for Christmas. All 12-year-old Joey Fillar wants is to be able to see like other kids.

Joey won't get his wish this year, he may get it by Christmas 1957.

He lives at nearby Wilmerding with his widowed mother, a brother and two sisters. Each morning before attending classes at St. Leocadia's Roman Catholic school, he goes to Mass and says a prayer that his operation will "come out okay."

Joey's sort of a frail boy and he's shy. But he's not nearly so shy as he was a year ago when a Lions Club in his community became interested in him, saw to it that he had the finest pair of glasses obtainable and then arranged special eye treatment.

Mrs. Mary Fillar, Joey's mother, said the outlook wasn't good for Joey until the Lions Club came to the family's aid. Her husband died last February after being bedridden five years by arthritis. Joey's right eye was injured at birth. His eyelid sagged pathetically and for years, especially after starting to school, he endured the stares of the curious.

"I took him to the doctor to see if there wasn't something we could do," his mother said last night. "The Lions Club paid for his glasses and for a whole year now he's been receiving treatment at the Pennsylvania Vision Institute in Pittsburgh."

That treatment has so encouraged surgeons that in about a month they'll operate on Joey. He has double vision and is unable to coordinate his right eye with his good left eye but eye training exercises have helped him considerably.

There probably will be a series of operations, a surgeon said. Muscles alternately will be strengthened, then weakened. Joey will receive eye exercises. The entire process probably will take a year and it may not be until Christmas 1957 that Joey can see as well as most boys.

The Lions Club has pledged itself to raise more than $500 for the operation. Mrs. Fillar, whose other children range from 9 to 17, said she keeps the family together on $193 monthly Social Security payments.

Claim Russian Tanks Were in Desert Fight Against Israel Army

WINNIPEG, Man. — Russian-speaking soldiers in Russian-built tanks fought against Israel in the Sinai Desert two weeks ago, says Col. Nachman Karni of the operations branch of the Israeli army.

Karni, who left Israel 10 days ago and came here to address an Israel bond drive, said in an interview the Egyptian army was much better equipped than any Western country suspected.

"The Russians had supplied them with everything. They had Russian tanks, planes, armored cars, artillery and firearms," he reported.

The colonel said Russian was often heard when Egyptian radio communications in the battle area were monitored.

Governor Names Widow to Post Husband Held

JEFFERSON CITY — Gov. Phil M. Donnelly has given to Bert C. Cooper's widow the job Cooper held as director of the State Department of Business and Administration.

Donnelly appointed Mrs. Eula B. Cooper to the $6,000 a year directorship, replacing her husband who died about three weeks ago.

It was expected that Governor-elect James T. Blair Jr., would name his own director of business and administration after he takes office in January.

The governor received the resignation of C. P. Turley of Van Buren as a member of the State Park Board. Turley, recently appointed by Donnelly to take over the job of Carter County probate judge and magistrate, said he didn't believe he could hold both the county and state jobs at the same time under Missouri law.

Donnelly also received these resignations:

William B. Norris Jr., of St. Joseph as Buchanan County magistrate, effective Dec. 16. Norris did not say why he was resigning.

Vern C. Goodwin of Edina as Knox County assessor, effective Dec. 31. Goodwin said he was quitting because he was elected Knox County sheriff and would take over that job Jan. 1.

The Holiday Season is here and most of us realize that with the arrival of Thanksgiving it is time to prepare for Christmas. It is always fun to Christmas shop and get ready for the festivities that seem to increase as time goes on. While you are shopping for those on your list, it is wise to select a few things for yourself so you will be ready for those special occasions. As for gifts for m'lady, she always loves pretty things to wear. Lingerie is of course a favorite and this season we again find new shades in nylon lingerie that is irresistible. Pale green, shell pink and buttercup are new and truly exquisite. Red again is important and everyone does like it. Beautiful dusters and robes too are plentiful and they make grand gifts. Quilted nylon tricot, nylon chiffon and corduroy are beautiful in either the dusters or fitted robes. Scarves always are appreciated and this year, they are lovely Handkerchiefs, gloves and stoles and purses as well as hose can always be used. The "separates story" is a separate story so more about that next week.

DeLaine Griffith Pledges Vows With Mr. Upton

Miss DeLaine Griffith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Othel Griffith, Smithton, and George Leroy Upton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Upton, Green Ridge, exchanged wedding vows in a double ring ceremony October 12 at the Smithton Baptist Church with the bride's brother-in-law, the Rev. Donald Alcorn, Centralia, officiating. Tall white tapers in seven-branch candelabra tied with white satin bows and large baskets of white and yellow pompons were placed on either side of the altar forming the background.

Mrs. Walter Baxter, Smithton, aunt of the bride, played traditional wedding music on the piano. Mrs. Robert Martin, Sedalia, sang "I Love You Truly" and "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life."

The bridegroom's sister, Miss Alice Upton, Green Ridge, and the bride's cousin, Miss Dianne Griffith, Sedalia, wearing identical dresses of moss green taffeta fashioned with fitted bodice and full skirts, lighted the tapers. They also wore wrist corsages of tiny yellow chrysanthemums.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a ballerina length princess style dress of white taffeta with nylon net and seed pearls, outlining the deep V neckline. She carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations and pink rosebuds. Tiny rosebuds were tied in the love knots in the white satin streamers. Her illusion veil was held by a Juliet cap of lace and seed pearls.

Miss Carol Griffith, Smithton, was bridesmaid for her sister. She wore a gown identical to the bride's in a rose de cocoa shade. Her bouquet was also colonial of yellow chrysanthemums with moss green streamers.

Joseph Upton, Green Ridge, served his brother as best man. Clyde Upton, Green Ridge, and Richard Griffith, Smithton, ushered.

The mother of the bride wore a gray nylon flannel dress with black accessories. The mother of the bridegroom chose a dress of deep royal blue with black and pink accessories. They each wore a pink carnation corsage.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Cora Baxter for 80 guests. The bride's table held a centerpiece of white and yellow chrysanthemums and a four-tiered wedding cake. Mrs. C. A. DeJarnett, Mrs. Sterling Griffith and Mrs. Murrell Griffith, Sedalia, served. Mrs. Loy Smith, Green Ridge, was in charge of the guest book.

The couple left after the reception for a wedding trip in the Smoky Mountains in Tennessee. For traveling, the bride chose a two-piece knit dress in rose with black velvet accessories.

The bride was employed in the office of Town and Country Shoe factory for 18 months.

The bridegroom is employed by the Dairy Herd Improvement Association in Miller, Morgan, Benton and Pettis Counties.

Moniteau County 4-H Clubs Hold Recognition Night

Two hundred and fifty home economics clubs, 4-H clubs and balanced farming families attended the third annual Family Night Recognition on Thursday night at the California High School.

The home economics club council sponsors the family night recognition program which begins with a turkey dinner served at 7 o'clock in the school cafeteria. Mrs. Harold Gerhart, Mrs. Clark Howard, Mrs. George Coleman, Mrs. Robert Basinger and Mrs. Charles Stock prepared 100 pounds of turkey for the meal. Families brought vegetables, relishes and dessert.

A turkey carving demonstration was presented by Ted Jule, marketing specialist, from the College of Agriculture. He showed two methods of carving at the table. One method was turning the breast of the turkey away from the carver, cutting off the wing and leg, then slicing the breast meat. The second method was turning the turkey parallel to the carver and proceed as in method one.

The program opened with Mrs. Lawrence Cook, president of the Home Economics Council, presiding. Eighteen women and girls modeled garments made in the nine tailoring classes held in the county. Two Sedalians Attend Meeting In Kansas City

Dr. Floyd L. Lively and Dr. Russell Drenon of Sedalia were among those who attended the Heart of America Educational Optometric Congress which was held at the Hotel President in Kansas City last weekend.

The three-day meeting is held annually for the purpose of keeping the optometric profession up-to-date on the latest developments in the field of visual care. The program this year included lectures by three prominent optometrists and a research psychologist. The optometrists on the platform were: Dr. A. M. Skeffington, St. Louis; Dr. Victor S. Glover, Roswell, N.M.; and Dr. O. J. Melvin, New Orleans, La. The psychologist was Dr. N. H. Pronke, head of the University of Wichita's psychology department.

The optometric lecturers concentrated on the visual performance of the pre-school and school child. Dr. Melvin highlighted this subject in his Monday evening talk entitled "Why Johnny Can't Read—Optometry's Concern." He cited research which has been done on the reading problem at Purdue University. According to Dr. Melvin these studies showed that four out of every ten children have visual skills below the level required for good school work, and that these visual skills can be improved by modern optometric methods. In terms of school achievement alone, visual training pays off.

The meeting attracted approximately 175 optometrists from an eight-state area.

Mrs. Sidney Wright Gives Talk at School

On Wednesday morning Mrs. Sidney Wright gave an interesting lecture on her tour to Hawaii for the Junior High Assembly at Smith-Cotton High School. The lecture was illustrated by many excellent slides showing the areas visited by Mrs. Wright. Mrs. Wright was introduced by Jon Waller, Student Council president.

WHO'S THAT FUNNY MAN? What a clown he is! Making such silly faces . . . silly noises, too. Thinks he's talking my language. But I kind of like him because . . . I guess he belongs to me. If only he could understand me . . . you know what I'd tell him? I like it here!

Behind the assurance so many American children feel—from their earliest days—lies a sense of security that comes from their parents. And over 16 million Americans—parents and others, too—enjoy that sense of security because of savings . . . entrusted to their local Insured Savings and Loan Association. This trust is inspired by sound local management, excellent returns and insured safety. Savings are insured up to $10,000 by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation, an agency of the U. S. Government. Insured Savings and Loan Associations are a major and steadily growing factor in the Nation's economy. For millions they encourage thrift, promote home ownership and create paying jobs. With over $37 billion of assets these insured associations help keep the Nation's prosperity vigorous and genuinely sound.

Industries In Closer Look At Farmers

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—In their competition for the consumer's dollar a number of industries are taking a closer look today at the farmer. The fact that the drop in farm income totals has stopped and that a reversal in the trend is due heartens merchants who even during the slump that followed the end of Korean hostilities found the farm market good for such things as freezers, stoves, TV sets and wall-to-wall carpeting.

The Department of Agriculture estimates that farmers will spend five billion dollars more in the next four years for home appliances. And the Carpet Institute reports that the number of farm families remodeling or redecorating their homes is well above the national average.

The farmer's spending habits appear to be in their third major phase since World War II.

Farm income rose sharply during the war. The first phase was the use of the increased income to pay off old debts. It is estimated that 7 out of 10 farms are clear of mortgage.

Farm income continued high after the war and the farmer put a lot of it into buying new farm equipment. Last year the investment in machinery and motor vehicles used on the farm was estimated at nearly 18 billion dollars, about six times as great as in 1940.

This phase came to a fairly sudden halt when the prices of farm products turned down. The farmer decided to get along with the machinery he had.

The third phase, which merchants say has been particularly notable in the '50s, has been the purchasing of household equipment. Arrival of electric power to many rural areas helped, and farmers turned to raising living standards. The Department of Agriculture reports the standards in the farm houses are now more than 50 per cent higher than before the war.

Will Ask Right To Destroy Pills Seized In Raid

PITTSBURGH (AP)—U. S. Atty. Malcolm Anderson announced he would ask federal Judge John L. Miller "very soon" for a permissive order to destroy a half million pills seized in a government raid on the Hoxsey Cancer Clinic at Portage, Pa.

A U. S. District Court jury yesterday ruled that the government acted properly in seizing the pills. The verdict climaxed a six-week legal battle between the government and counsel for the Portage clinic.

Anderson said the government initiated the civil suit because it wanted permission to destroy the pills on the grounds they were "misbranded" as effective in the treatment of cancer. He said the verdict had the effect of granting the permission the government sought.

Government attorneys also asked Judge Miller to issue an injunction to prevent the Portage clinic from shipping or receiving similar pills in inter-state commerce.

From the outset of the trial, which began Oct. 8, the government hammered at its point that the pills have no value in treating internal cancers.

Defense attorneys introduced witnesses who told the jury they were helped by the Hoxsey method.

The pills, the government said, are part of a cancer treatment developed by Harry M. Hoxsey, a maturopath from Dallas, Tex.

Station Wagon Worth Price To Ballard

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—When the campaign for Kentucky's senatorial race began, Thurston Ballard Morton was faced with the problem of never having made a statewide race.

So the lanky, 49-year-old Republican bought a new station wagon last March and set out to sell his platform to the people.

By Nov. 6, he had put 21,000 miles on the car—and it paid off. He won his race against the Democratic incumbent, Earle C. Clements.

Morton got his first taste of politics at a very early age. He says one of the major influences in his life was his early association with Samuel Gompers, father of the American Federation of Labor.

In 1914, Woodrow Wilson picked Morton's grandfather S. Thurston Ballard to serve with Gompers on an industrial relations commission. Young Morton, just 7, tagged along and said later he was highly impressed by what he saw and heard, especially conversations between grandfather Ballard and Gompers.

Young Morton later went to Frankfort, capital of Kentucky, as an Assembly page when his grandfather became lieutenant governor in 1919.

Despite urgings from friends and relatives, he didn't enter his first political race until after serving a hitch as a naval officer in World War II.

When the war was over, he wanted to go back to the family business, Ballard Mills, with which he had been associated since graduating from Yale in 1929.

But Republican party leaders in Jefferson County had different ideas and Morton ran for Congress in 1946. He was elected.

Voters returned him in 1948 and 1950. Once again, in 1952, Morton decided to go back to Ballard Mills, and, again, he was urged to take another course.

He returned to Washington as assistant secretary of state. Until he resigned to make this year's senatorial race, he worked at winning congressional support for the administration's foreign aid program.

Politically, Morton has been described as something of a maverick Republican. He was strong for Wendell Willkie in 1940 and was the only Eisenhower man in the Kentucky delegation to the Republican National Convention in 1952.

Morton is married and has two sons, Thurston Ballard Jr., 24, and Clay, 20.

Adenauer Plans Major Effort to Tighten US-German Relations

BONN, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer plans a major effort to tighten German-American cooperation in the wake of the Hungarian and Middle East crises.

Adenauer is considering sending Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano to Washington to sound out the Eisenhower administration on future American foreign policy.

The main aim of such a trip would be to press for coordination of West German and American policies toward the Soviet Union and in Europe and the Middle East.

Such a plan reflects strong pressure from Parliament and in the Foreign Office for a more independent German foreign policy. German leaders were alarmed and irritated by the unexpected British-French assault on Egypt. The prevailing view is that German security must never again be threatened by some military venture of other NATO powers.

The meeting was called to order by the vice-president, Robert Gregory.

A new president, Virginia McCorkle, was elected. A committee of four was appointed to fill out program books and is composed of Charles Kinder, Marilyn Reid, Virginia McCorkle and Lillie Reid.

Lillie Reid is attending a meeting in Sedalia to help plan the 4-H goals for the coming year.

Eleven members answered roll call with "What I Want for Christmas." Assistant community leader, Mrs. W. Hayes, helped with the meeting.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bratton in Houstonia.

Massive Switch in Story--

Britain Gives New Reason For the Invasion of Egypt

LONDON (AP)—Britain has made a massive switch in its official line justifying the British-French invasion of Egypt.

The original explanation—that London and Paris wanted to separate the warring Israeli and Egyptian forces and safeguard the Suez Canal for shipping—has been pushed aside by events.

Now, in one of those behind-the-scenes changes beginning with Cabinet ministers and trickling down the official hierarchy, the new pitch has emerged: the British and French only just nipped a huge Communist military buildup in the Middle East.

It is a behind-the-scenes story that is now clarifying. To bring it off, the British warmed over some facts that just about every informed person has known for months.

The old explanation wasn't holding up. As the British-French action in the canal zone continued, Egypt bottled up the canal with wrecks, which meant one major objective had been missed. Also a groundswell of criticism hit Prime Minister Eden's government, from Britain and abroad, for its decision to attack Egypt.

Eden and his colleagues decided to shoot all their political ammunition to justify their action. Peter Thorneycroft, president of the Board of Trade, was chosen to fire the first big oratorical gun. He said last Thursday in a debate in the House of Commons:

"Russia's plans now are shown to have included a takeover of the Middle East, using Nasser as her instrument."

"Our intervention disclosed that Egypt had been armed to the teeth by Russia. The truth was now apparent. We intervened to stop the war and perhaps, in the nick of time, before the Egyptian air force organized by Russia ran amok in the Middle East."

Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd touched on a similar theme two days later in a nationwide broadcast.

Sunday it was topped off in typical British style. A man in a pinstriped suit sat in a British government office methodically telephoning key newsmen in London.

"We're having a conference at 5," he told each correspondent. "Quite an important story."

The newsmen assembled at an assigned hour in a big office in Whitehall and got the news, plus a gimmick.

The news: a report claiming to show in minute detail the extent of recent Soviet military penetration in the Middle East.

The gimmick: "You can't quote us."

Reporters were authorized to quote only "official sources." The readers, most especially foreign diplomats, could see that meant from government officials. But the government was not taking official responsibility for the information given out.

The "official sources" said the Soviet bloc had sent 150 million pounds—420 million dollars—worth of military equipment to Egypt during the past year.

Thorneycroft's statement in Commons implied that British and French forces in Egypt had just uncovered this information. But other officials said privately the facts had been reported many weeks before.

Informed Western diplomats said the United States already knew all the details. Much of the information had been published unofficially.

The only new thing was the number of Russian tanks involved—the impression had been there were only 200.

Foreign diplomats suggested these reasons for the "disclosure" with much fanfare:

1. The report could have been released to influence American public opinion, always sensitive to a threat of Soviet expansionism. The Americans were frowning on the British-French attack.

2. The object might have been to impress on those Middle Eastern Arab rulers who hate communism that the danger of Red expansion was real, that it could spell the end of their dynasties, and that Nasser could hardly be regarded as an ideal leader of the Arab world while he was flirting with the Communists.

Britain, needing Arab friendship would like to appear as the savior and friend of the Arab world. The British-French invasion of Egypt had deepened Arab distrust of Britain.

3. Finally, perhaps the report was put out to impress public opinion at home. Britain itself was divided over the wisdom of the British-French assault. Public opinion polls since the Thorneycroft speech and the report by the "official sources" show a swing toward the Eden government.
